LIQUOR CONTROL — As Others Do It

NO 4—REGULATIONS: ENGLISH, DUTCH AND BELGIAN TYPES

NOTE This is the fourth article of a series dealing with liquor control. In previous columns we have seen how the importance of the control of the value of the drink is almost as important as its control.

The five representatives of the Red Cross, Edward Marion, Washington, national director of the Red Cross; Everett Dix, of the Seneca chapter; Mrs. H. H. Hughes, of the Marion chapter; Miss Ruth E. Piffin, of the Indianapolis chapter; and representative of the American Red Cross, the United States Veterans administration regional office, were invited.

It is anticipated the conference will be addressed by leaders of Ohio chapters.

Registration will open at 9:45 a.m. with the first session starting at 10:15 a.m. Howard James, chairman of the Seneca county chapter, and Piffin will be the presiding officers. The head will introduce Mayor W. C. Phillips, who will give an address of welcome. A feature of the morning session will be a forum on planning the 1934 Roll Call.

A luncheon session at 12 noon will be presided over by C. F. Brown, chairman of the Marion county chapter with Mr. Hughes scheduled for an address on The Red Cross A Permanent Asset in Community and Nation. Harry Soule, chairman of the chapter at Adria.

F. S. Spaulding of Columbus, Red Cross field representative in this district is working on plans for the meeting with Miss Plack. He will be in Marion Tuesday to make final arrangements.

Here's how they quaff the cup convivially in England where the sale of liquor in a pub like this or elsewhere is restricted to certain hours.

Investigation and in 1932 recommended various changes in the current system of licensing, the main of which were the setting up of a national licensing committee for England and another for Scotland, more rapid reduction in the number of licenses, encouragement of public house improvement and assistance along the lines of experiment in public ownership.

Hours Of Sale Limited

Permitted hours for the sale of liquor total nine in the United States on week days and eight in municipalities with a stipulation that there must be a break of at least two hours after noon. On Sunday the permitted hours total five.

A royal commission made an investigation and in 1932 recommended various changes in the current system of licensing, the main of which were the setting up of a national licensing committee for England and another for Scotland, more rapid reduction in the number of licenses, encouragement of public house improvement and assistance along the lines of experiment in public ownership.

TWO TYPES OF LICENSE CONTROL DUTCH SALES

By The Associated Press

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 17.—Control of the liquor trade is being introduced in the Netherlands.

As amended, No. 1, the first Dutch liquor legislation rules that no one is entitled to sell alcoholic drinks until a special license called "vergunning" has been obtained.

The license is of two kinds: the tap license for ordinary pub bars, cafes and other similar places and the hotel license for hotels, casinos and clubs.

Tap licenses issued by the communal authorities are limited in number according to the population of each community. Hotel licenses are issued by the state.

The communal authorities are free to prohibit the sale of liquor in any street or section while the government by decree is allowed to suspend temporary any sales when and wherever it deems it appropriate to quell public excitement as on celebration days.

They are more juicy, lose less cooking, and have a better taste. There are two general ways of roasting meat. (a) Sear the meat at a high temperature (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for about 20 minutes until it is browned. Then finish cooking at a lower temperature until the desired degree of doneness is reached; (b) cook meat at a low temperature from the start.

An open pan is more desirable than a closed one. Basting is necessary if the top side has been over it. Do not add water to the pan. Salt the meat after it is browned. The meat will be tender. For a rare roast allow 15 minutes to the pound. For a roast to be well done allow 25 to 35 minutes to the pound.

I know nothing," she said, empha-

Encouraging a Second Thought.

Disclosure that the Roosevelt administration is prepared to discourage would-be strikers by refusing in advance to give them federal relief is not a pleasant thing to hear. Yet, the policy stands up well under scrutiny. If enforced intelligently, it would be no injustice to labor. On the other hand, it might be a valuable service in many cases.The effect would be to encourage a second thought in the minds of strikers. Where a strike was justifiable, there would be no difference. Department of labor investigators would have knowledge of the fact, and an exception could be made. In cases where the strikes were not justifiable, those involved in it might think better before they poured confusion on confusion.The country has faith enough in the administration's fairness to be sure that there is no intention of forcing labor to make compromises manifestly unfair to itself. The object is to discourage strikes which lack justification. disturbances which are achieved for the sake of disturbance only.
In effect, the policy would protect labor against those who prey on labor for their own selfish ends.There exists in the terms of the new deal a recognition of labor which should not be overlooked. Eventually, if recovery can be accomplished in the present trying period, reconstruction can be undertaken on a larger scale than it is practical to attempt during the period of the emergency. The first purpose is to prevent the collapse of the economic structure. Ultimately, the structure will be refashioned in a better pattern.
That is the motivating force behind everything that has been attempted.Cooperation is an obvious essential. The thing cannot be done in half a year, as labor originally was led to hope it could be done, or in several years. It will be a long pull. If Americans lack the patience and perseverance to make it under the leadership they have provided for themselves, they must share the blame for whatever unfavorable consequences may come with that leadership.

The Next Session of Congress.

The first regular session of the new congress already is being anticipated in preparations for its work. Senator Robinson, majority leader in the senate, conversed with President Roosevelt recently and subsequently published a statement.Its salient point was the Democratic intention to make the session as short as possible. As much as possible will be done in advance to forestall costly delays of action.
It is the present intention to terminate the session in the spring.Once more the proper function of a minority is brought into discussion by this intention. Obviously, Republican members of congress will try to raise issues in the coming session. Perhaps by the beginning of the year they will dare to criticize weak points in President Roosevelt's policy.They will be looking forward to congressional elections in 1934, their first opportunity to regain some of the ground they lost in the Democratic landslides of the two preceding elections. Under the two-party system they have an obligation to make the majority defend itself.Perhaps it is not the Republicans so much as the Democrats who are worrying the administration. No one has forgotten the country's marvel at the way the consolidated majority was held in line during the special session. No one has forgotten, either, the occasional indications of disruption.
Nevertheless, congress broke all records for competence and speed.It is acknowledged that the trick was done with almost use of the patronage personal in the special session. Congressmen tried to get out of line were remunerated pointedly there were jobs to be dispensed.
The result was good, it enabled the administration to act speedily when speed was demanded.It will be different in the regular session.

N.C.O. League Totters After Mansfield-Ashland Break

GAME DISTURBANCES
MAY CAUSE SEVERING
OF ALL RELATIONS

School Officials Fear Athletic Rivalry Is Becoming Too Intense.

The fate of the North Central Ohio league, of which Marion Harding High School is a member, appeared to be hanging in the balance today following the threat of Ashland to sever all athletic relations with Mansfield as the result of disturbances at the Mansfield-Ashland football game last Saturday. A none too solid threat now, the disruption of relations between Mansfield and Ashland would undoubtedly put the organization on the rocks. Since the withdrawal two years ago of Bucyrus, only five cities, Mansfield, Ashland, Marion, Shelby and Galion, claim membership in the league.

The disturbances at Mansfield, for which no blame is placed on Mansfield school authorities, occurred both during and following the game. Mansfield officials, reliable information from Ashland reports, have offered apologies and offered to adjust any damages which may have resulted. Ashland school officials, however, take the stand that future athletic contests between the schools might pave the way for further and more serious disturbances and for that reason is considering the severing of relations.

The Ashland Times-Gazette, in reporting the incident, says several Ashland players were struck in the face as the Ashland bus was caught in a barrage of tomatoes following the game. Coach G. D. Starn's new hat was splattered and a substitute's neck stopped one overripe piece of fruit which otherwise would have hit E. B. Eohn, principal of Ashland High school. The tomato throwing episode completed a series of acts which were looked on with disfavor by Ashland officials. Several outbreaks between followers of the teams during the game were terminated just short of miniature riots.

Painted Steps

The affair started when a group of Mansfield fans invaded Ashland the night before the game and painted the steps of the Ashland auditorium. This same group, it is believed, stole an Ashland corporation sign which was flouted during the game.

Ashland fans attempted to take possession of the signs between the halves and in the ensuing melee about $200 worth of Mansfield band instruments are reported to have been destroyed. The field was in turmoil much of the time and the game was delayed once in the second half while officials cleared the field.

Ashland school officials are not expected to make their final decision on withdrawal until after the present football season is completed. Regardless, however, of whether Ashland withdraws, there are indications the league will be reorganized with the addition of Mt. Vernon and the return of Bucyrus to the roster.

Sub Gets Chance To Play and Cinches Regular Berth

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—He was standing there by the ferry, a well-set up youngster, no hat on his blonde head and his friendly features undimmed by a circle of purple around one eye and a big red bruise on his forehead.

It was obvious that he was going somewhere of importance to him. "If you're driving up the other side of the river toward West Point" he suggested, "I'd like to go along with you. Our football team—Delaware—is playing Army today and the coach said if I could make it I might get into the game."

The car rolled toward the Point. From the back seat came dribbles of information.

"I'm only a third string guard," he said. "We only had money enough to bring 30 men. I was about the thirteenth I guess. But my uniform's there, and I'll get a chance to play now."

Aw, That's Nothing

"This eye? Aw, that doesn't amount to anything. I got it in serendipity this week. Money? Well, I started out from Wilmington with a quarter. I got a ride to New York all right and stayed overnight with my uncle in Brooklyn. This morning I rode as far north as I could in the subway, and then I got off to see if I couldn't catch another ride."

He would have a spot of lunch along the way?

"No thanks, I had a good breakfast. If I get in there I don't want to be bogged down with food. This is my big chance. I've got a good job at school. I mind children for people who want to go out for the evening."

It was all right with him. He had won himself a regular place, and the right to ride in a train with the team the next place Delaware goes.

DEPRESSION CAUSES GRID PERFORMERS TO FADE FROM PICTURE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O.—There is a new position on the football team at Ohio State University this fall. It's called "entertainer" — and Kenneth Buck Rasmussen, bespectacled musician and wit of sorts from Cleveland, is so good at the job he doesn't even have to work out to keep the "place" on the team.

It is a new note in gridiron warfare, it appears, with Coach Sam Willaman as the proud originator.

One of the Boys

Rasmussen (the boys call him "Rasputin") eats, sleeps and gets into football together with the squad.

"It helps keep down that certain tension on the team," Willaman explains in all seriousness. "The boys are in a good humor, relaxed, at ease. It is good stuff all the way around."

When Willaman ran an eye down the roster of likely prospects and picked out 50 to report for the early drills this season, he sent Rasmussen a letter too.

The clowning Cleveland, a sophomore now, went out for the freshman squad last year. But it soon became apparent to all hands that his value to the team was not in making spectacular tackles booting high spirals, running around end or making smash plays through the line.

Genius In His Line

But as a spreader of good cheer and true humor—well, he was a positive genius.

So Willaman hit upon the idea of having him around this year. And so far it has been a good idea.

He will stay with the squad as long as he can be persuaded to do so and very likely he will be among those putting away his uniform after the final game of the year.

PLAY HUNCHES? PUT YOUR CASH ON TECH

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—If you play hunches, put your money on Carnegie Tech to whip Notre Dame this week.

The Ramblers couldn't beat Howard Harpster when he was playing a great quarterback for the Tartans in the great days of 1926-28 and the superstitious might risk a gamble that the jinx will hold good now that Harpster is head coach at Cleve land Saturday.

"We first used this play in high school 25 years ago, but never had a name for it until 1911. The play requires that the middlemen, who receive the forward pass, snap the ball laterally. It has to be done cleverly—just a flip."

"A newspaper man, watching one of our players flip the lateral, remarked: 'That fellow does it so neatly he reminds me of a monkey flicking a flea off his body.'

"From now on, the play was known as the 'flea-flicker.'

Saturday's play, Heynon to Frink to Froschner, was used by Illinois to score against Chicago in 1913 and 1924 and against Pennsylvania in 1925.

Fritz Crisler has done a remarkable job in restoring Princeton football to the point where the Tigers once more are genuinely feared. In little more than a year, Crisler has developed a team that some critics think is destined to some titles.

Since Appears As Slump Shows First Hour Advance.

By The Associated Press
Oct. 17—Spots of strength appeared in the financial market, although there were gains and losses, and rallies that trends were difficult to define.

It started with indications that most of its subscribers of the previous session were recorded by leaders in the first hour. The advance ended in a flood of offerings, however, for a sizeable reaction.

Buying orders were steady and most were steady. Grains were stocks. Wheat 1 cent a bushel this and about 2 cents following support. Corn 1 cent a bushel.

Telephone shares were off a point or more.

American Tobacco & Myers B and Sears sagged about a point. Bonds were registered by general, Du Pont, U. S. S. Steel, National Distillery, Case, Deere, Snelling and American Alcoho. Union Pacific.

620,000 RETURN TO JOBS IN SEPTEMBER

Secretary Perkins Issues U.S. Report on Employment Conditions.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The labor department reported today that over 620,000 workers returned to their jobs during September in the seventeen industrial and business groups reporting to its bureau of labor statistics.

Secretary Perkins said over 200,000 workers found employment in manufacturing industries and a slightly larger number in retail establishments.

The seasonal increase in canning accounted for 70,000. Gains in the wholesale trade were shown.

Building, construction industries indicated more than 20,000 workers were added.

The employment increase in September was 3.2 over August with an index of 73.9. In September 1932 the index was 58.5 which was an increase of 4.5 per cent over the previous month.

HOBBY CLUB SEES RELIC COLLECTIONS

Group Aids Mansfield To Study Valuable Collections.

Valuable collections of Indian relics and antiques were studied by the Hobby club of the Y. M. C. A. when a party of members visited in Mansfield last night.

The group visited John Well, secretary of the Masonic temple, and viewed his collection of Indian relics and watched him make arrowheads of flint and glass.

A collection of naval documents and letters which is considered on a par with the government's collection, was displayed for the party at the home of Ernest Wesson. He also showed his collection of antique furniture, autographs, books, prints, alphabets, plates and a rare medicine chest.

Those who went were Dr. F. A. Stengel, Paul Phelps, Robert Phelps, Earl Schwent, Adam Bauer, Timothy Fahey Jr., Harold Alexander, Clarence Hart, Tom Jevons, Earl N. Hale and Russell Strong.

CHEADLE SPEAKS TO SERVICE CLUB

Marietta should try to inspire the Hardin High school football team instead of presenting its present passive attitude, Coach Gerald E. Chennell told members of the Y. M. C. A. Men's Service club at a dinner meeting last night at Hotel Hardin.

Donald Lee was named chairman of a committee to develop a plan for the benefit of the football team. Jack Weise and Harry Dowler were named to serve on the committee.

Carroll Kerr announced plans for a debate Oct. 30, and the social committee announced that the meeting next week will be held at the Mang cottage north of Marion. James Mitchell will be chairman of arrangements.

RUDY'S NOSE FIXED

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Rudy Vallee has just had his nose repaired. The operation was performed Sunday afternoon and Vallee probably will be discharged tomorrow. There was nothing radically wrong with the nose, said the nurse—just minor repairs.

EINSTEIN ARRIVES IN NEW YORK CITY

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—When Professor Albert Einstein arrived from Europe on the Westland liner he was hurried off the liner to a trolley avoiding the usual landing procedure. No explanation was offered about whether this was done to avert a possible demonstration by sympathizers with German Nazis, or whether the renowned mathematician merely wished to escape the crowds at the pier.

COUNCIL PLANS TO BAN BARKING DOGS

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, Oct. 17.—Because of numerous complaints that dogs in several sections were a nuisance because of barking at night council Monday night authorized the ordinance committee to prepare an ordinance under which such dogs could be declared a nuisance. Under the proposed ordinance the mayor would be required to have the nuisances abated when complaints are made.
